

COLLEGE OF NURSING

2018-2019 Graduate Catalog

The College of Nursing at the University of Toledo offers several graduate-level degree and certificate programs. Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) and Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degrees, as well as academic certificates are offered. The Doctor of Nursing Practice Program (DNP) is designed to prepare advanced practice nurses, nurses in leadership positions, and nurses with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing to the highest level of clinical practice in order to meet the increasing complexities and challenges of the nation's health care environment. The MSN concentrations are: Nurse Practitioner, Nurse Educator, and Clinical Nurse Leader. Certificates offered are: Family Nurse Practitioner, Nurse Educator, and Pediatric Primary Care Nurse Practitioner.

Linda A. Lewandowski, PhD, RN, FAAN

Dean and Professor

linda.lewandowski@utoledo.edu

PhD, University of Massachusetts, Clinical Psychology

MS, University of Massachusetts, Psychology

MS, University of California, Pediatric Clinical Care Nursing

BSN, University of Michigan

Kathleen Mitchell, MSN, APRN, CNS, CRRN

Assistant Dean, Student Services

kathleen.mitchell@utoledo.edu

MSN; Thomas Jefferson University

BSN; Ursuline College

David Lymanstall, MEd, MSN, RN

Graduate Nursing Advisor and Instructor

david.lymanstall@utoledo.edu

BA, The University of Toledo

MEd, The University of Toledo

MSN, Medical University of Ohio