

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, AND SOCIETY, MINOR

Code	Title	Hours
Requirements
CLT 2750	Complex Leadership Challenges	1
CLT 3000	The Art of Statesmanship and the Civic Life	3
CLT 3010	The Art of Rhetoric and the Civic Life	3
CLT 3500	Civic Discourse	3
CLT 3750	The Empire of Modern Science	3
Select one of the following		3
CLT 2000	The American Constitutional Tradition
CLT 3020	Liberalism and Conservatism in America
CLT 3030	Model U.S. Senate
CLT 3040	Constitutional Democracy and Democratic Citizenship
CLT 3510	Competing Theories of Justice
CLT 3990	Special Topics in Civic Thought
ECON 4410	American Economic History <sup>1</sup>
Total Hours		16

<sup>1</sup> ECON 1150 and ECON 1200 are prerequisite courses for ECON 4410

- Assess and respond to leadership challenges in applied science using principles and skills of liberal arts
- Integrate lessons from leaders in engineering, academia, business, and politics in an applied science career
- Students will practice the skills of disciplined communication and learn to apply these skills in the context of engineering leadership
- Examine the intersection of technical expertise, government, and civic engagement